

EPITAPH.
Here doth a jolting barber lie,
Who dyed to live, yet lived to die.
Agon he'll turn "from grave to gay"
If, on the resurrection day,
The angel Gabriel says he's "next."
But if St. Peter him rejects,
He'll light the shavers for old Nick,
And scrape acquaintance with him quick.
Here lies a taller with his throat
Of life cut short. Now that he's dead
He'll be no wiser on the sky
He and his gone can both long high.
This is the last of the first shaver:
Who pugged out booting his undertaker.
He left his wife and children small.
His stockin' trade, and that was all.
For saving souls was well known;
So we may hope he saved his own.

LIFE.
Look, the world tempts our eye,
And we would know it all!
We may the stars see,
We miss the earth below.
We measure the sea tides, we number the sea sands;
We scrutinize the dates
Of long-past human things;
The lines of deceased kings;
We search out dead men's words and works of dead men's hands;
We shut our eyes and nose
How our own minds are troubled;
What sprays of thought they use,
How right it is, how wrong,<
And spend our wit to name what most cannot be named.
But still, as we proceed,
The more we know and more
Of volumes yet to read,
Of secrets to explore.
Our hair grows grey, our eyes are dimm'd,
Our heart is full of gloom.
—Matthew Arnold.

Those Who Live on Railroads.
There is a distinct railroad population that is constantly growing. It is composed of commercial travellers, business men and women, and those who make their homes in hotels or railroad meal stations. They do not at home or in hotels. They spend most of their lives in sleeping cars. To a person who travels only occasionally it is interesting to note how thoroughly equipped these professional journeyers are. Upon entering a sleeping car early in the evening, for instance, they remove their shoes and put on slippers, hang their hats up and don silk travelling caps, take off their coats and put on short sack coats or smoking jackets.
In the morning, when the occasional traveller is obliged to wear the only clothing he has brought, goes to the toilet compartment in his coat and vest, and thus struggles in an effort to cleanse his skin without exposing his shavers or his coat collar, these professional again excite his envy. They come along all smiles, having slept well, and feeling perfectly at home. They hang up their smoking jackets and display money night robes, ornamented with coloured binding and braid, and capable of being thrown open at the neck and rolled up above the elbows. From a pocket in the suspended jacket one produces an ivory-backed brush and comb, and another a toothbrush, and perhaps a sachet of soap. Another opens out a pretty much embroidered receptacle, composed of many folds, each one a pocket for one of the things. In these pockets are a comb, a brush, a toothbrush, shaving-brush, soap, pair of razors, and a handkerchief, hand glass and cologne bottle.
Their familiarity with their surroundings is as noticeable a part of their equipment. A glance out of the car window is almost certain to reveal to them their whereabouts when they arrive, or when they are waked up, never about to go to bed. They carry time-tables in their hands, and give good advice as to which station has the best cars. They are amiable and democratic. Four men who have seen one another before met in a smoking compartment and knew all about each other in an hour. The news in the papers takes on a new interest when they discuss it, because they seem to have a great deal about all parts of the country and to have many acquaintances in all the big cities. They appear to read all the news and to know which newspaper is most apt to have it and to serve it attractively, whenever the train stops long enough for the members to board it.

It-Told Friday.
Friday is regarded by a great many people as unlucky, but so what America has to thank this day for.
Friday, Columbus sailed on his voyage of discovery.
Friday, ten weeks after, he discovered America.
Friday, Henry VIII, of England, gave John Cabot his commission, which led to the discovery of North America.
Friday, St. Augustine, the oldest town in the United States, was founded.
Friday, the Mayflower, with the Pilgrims, arrived at Plymouth; and on Friday they signed that august compact, the first of the constitution.
Friday, George Washington was born.
Friday, Bunker Hill was seized and fortified.
Friday, the surrender of Saratoga was made.
Friday, Cornwallis surrendered Yorktown, and on Friday the nation was made independent.

A Thief's Story.
A few months ago a burglar entered the house of James Chambers, No. 1,023 Howell street, Chicago, and after packing up a large quantity of plated-ware and jewelry, entered the bedroom of Miss Chambers, who was asleep, and kissed her. The kiss was given her, and she clung to the thief until assistance arrived and he was secured. The signal is an unusual one, and will prove of interest to Toronto readers. The burglar, who is quite a young man, gave his name as Walter Simmons, and stated that his home was in Toronto, Canada. When placed on trial the evidence was quite clear, and after passing sentences the judge asked him if he had anything to say, to which he replied with tearful pleading down his cheeks: "Your honor, I have not much to say. Every word spoken by the witness is true, and yet I am not a thief. They have sworn to certain facts, but they have not told the whole truth; no one knows the whole truth but myself, and I will tell it to you. Three years ago I left my home and a widow mother and sister in Toronto, and secured a good position in this city. But I got among evil companions, and, through drink, lost my situation a month ago. Having no money, and now but false friends, I made up my mind to commit a robbery and leave the country. I went into that house with no previous experience as a burglar, and wondered how easily I managed to gain an entrance. When I entered that lady's room I had no thought but to secure as much plunder as possible, of which I had a goodly pile already packed up. The light was burning low, when I turned it up, the first thing I saw was the sleeping lady's face. Like a flash thoughts of home and sister crossed upon me, and in that moment, before I had become a complete thief, I was reformed. I pictured to myself the agony my sister would suffer should she learn that I had become a thief, and in that moment I made up my mind that I would depart as I had come, empty-handed but honest. Filled with great remorse, and grateful to the lady who had called up such holy thoughts, I stooped and kissed her, and, before she knew the rest." The prisoner's story created a genuine sensation in court, and the police were instructed to make inquiries as to ones. The Toronto detectives, in response to telegraphic inquiries, reported that a young man named Simmons had left the city for Chicago some three years ago, leaving a widowed mother and sister behind, and that he had borne an excellent character for sobriety and honesty. To-day the prisoner was brought up on remand for sentence, and the judge, who had been greatly impressed and moved by the prisoner's manner and dramatic recital, ordered him to be confined for only three days for attempt at larceny, the lightest sentence ever recorded in Chicago for a crime so serious as that committed by the prisoner.

Sans Par Sweethearts.
In a courtship last night called at police headquarters, and was informed that the mother and sister of Simmons left for Chicago on Monday, and that the prisoner for nearly three years had been their main support, sending the best part of his wages regularly every two weeks. The father, who was at one time mate of the schooner Guelph, was recently burned at Quebec, was drowned in Toronto Bay some six years ago.
A Typographical Mistake.
"Yes," said a shabbily dressed man, "printers sometimes make very bad blunders. It is to a typographical mistake that I owe my present condition of poverty."
"How can that be?" he was asked.
"It was some years ago," he replied. "I had just embarked in the patent medicine business, having discovered a wonderful remedy for general debility and that sort of thing. I caused an advertisement to be inserted in a leading daily paper, with the customary pictures 'before and after taking,' but I never sold a bottle of the medicine, and in two weeks from the date of the first advertisement the whole business was in the hands of the sheriff."
"Well what was a typographical error to do with your failure?"
"The printer got the words 'before and after' transposed, and I didn't notice the mistake."

The Queen in the Kitchen.
Common Sense Terms.
Living in a pretty little cottage in the west end is an intelligent English woman, who at one time lived in the presence of royalty. To a reporter she said the other day: "My father was a gardener at Windsor Castle, and when I was about sixteen—the eleven years ago—I was taken in as a general utility maid."
"Were you in any way thrown in the company of the queen?"
"Yes, quite often. You see, some of the household servants she never saw, but my duties took me all round the castle, and I saw her more than any others."
"Did the Queen ever come into the kitchen, like the ladies of lesser degree are supposed to do?"
"Of course she did, and she enjoyed it. No. Why, I've seen Her Majesty take the rolling-pin out of the pastry cook's hands and roll a piece of pie crust out till it was just the right thickness."
"So the Queen eats pie, does she?"
"I've seen her make a pie and I've seen her eat her share of one. She has a good appetite and a good digestion and a pie never hurts her at all."
"It is said she loves roasted apples, is it so?"
"Yes, I've seen her take in her own hands a dish of nicely browned apples, and carry them to her room to eat them at her leisure."
"When she used to be in the kitchen did she seem interested in her work?"
"Very much. Why, one day she came in dressed in a plain black dress, with a great big white apron on, and she made a cake and fixed up a lot of other dishes. She rolled up her sleeves and went to work as if she was going to do a week's work and her board and lodging for it. She was always nice and kind to us, too, and talked just like some American ladies talk and not at all like some others talk when they get mad."
"Didn't she ever get angry?"
"Not very. I've heard her say 'Zounds' sometimes when she put her finger on the hot stove or something like that."

DELAY IN LUMBER.

The progress of Calgary for the last ten days has been blocked by reason of the railway's delay in forwarding lumber. Are the C.P.R. aware of the fact that on their main line of railway, directly west of the Fifth Initial Meridian, there is a town called Calgary? Are the C.P.R. aware of the fact that Calgary has more lumber waiting to be shipped on C.P.R. rails than all the other towns of the Northwest put together? Are the C.P.R. aware of the fact that on their lots for building purposes expires on the first of next month? Has it dawned upon the C.P.R. vision that if they neglect to forward our lumber the building problem will be a difficult one to solve?

These and a few other questions concerning the shipment of freight to Calgary, if considered by the company, might possibly result in a little more promptitude being exercised in the forwarding of our consignments. We have no desire to speak depreciatingly of other Northwest towns east of us, yet we unhesitatingly say that the company should take note of the surprising difference that exists between Calgary and those other towns in the matter of growth and prospects. That where such wonderful evidences of rapid development indicate themselves as are apparent in Calgary, special consideration should be given to their requirements. It is to be hoped that the C.P.R. will give such attention to the prompt shipment of lumber and building material as will be commensurate with the rapid growth of Calgary.

INDIAN POLICY.

The late attack by Northwest Indians upon the lumbering town of Broadview, eastern Alberta, has been a most serious matter. It is now being handled by the Indian Department. Instead of the Department at Ottawa allowing those who are in charge of Indian affairs in the Northwest to exercise a little discretion as to the management and distribution of Indian supplies, they are more automatically moved by some senior clerks at Ottawa who know about as much of Indian policy as an Egyptian mummy knows about handling buffalo. Instead of a vigorous policy being pursued, by which the Indians will be kept on their reservations, they are to be and to, hither and thither. Instead of their rations being distributed daily to them, thus compelling them to remain each day on their reservations for the purpose of receiving the same, the bungling system prevails of distributing the supplies twice a week. This latter way of doing the thing is but a premium to the Indians to leave their reservations during the interval and to make their usual marauding expeditions into the towns. If the former system be pursued it will be obligatory on the Indians, if they want to receive their rations, to remain continuously on their reservations. If it is at all possible for those in charge of Indian affairs at Ottawa to recognize the fact that their ignorance sometimes reaches to sublimity regarding Indian matters, it will then become possible to deal with our Northwest Indians as the circumstances of the case may require.

Young People's Association.

On Monday evening a good number of young persons assembled in the Methodist Church for the purpose of organizing a Young People's Association. After devotional exercises, Mr. Loughhead was asked to preside. The election of officers for the current three months was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:—President, Rev. Mr. Robertson; 1st Vice, Mrs. Fraser; 2nd Vice, Miss McNeill; 3rd Vice, Dr. Henderson; Secretary, Mr. A. Dow; Treasurer, Mr. F. Hardisty; Directors, Miss D. McNeill, Miss Thompson, Messrs. MacKellie, McLean and Ross.

The audience then partook of refreshments provided by Mrs. Hardisty, a part of the programme all entered upon with a zest.

During the evening a duet was given by Miss Hardisty and Mr. Shaw, song by Mr. Wellcome, reading by Dr. Henderson, addresses by the resident clergymen and the Rev. John McDougall, of Morley.

STOCK INTERESTS.

Few people have a definite idea of the immensity of the stock interests in the Alberta District. Although but a few years comparatively since its organization, it is already assuming an importance which will raise Alberta to an enviable position among the Provinces of the Northwest, or indeed, those of the Dominion. At the present time there are at least one and one-quarter millions of dollars invested in stock, which amount will be largely augmented by the importations of the present year.

To Mr. T. Lynch, of Emerson & Lynch, High River, who has had some years' experience in the cattle business, and has attained a superior reputation as a breeder of a fine class of horses, we are indebted for the following information, which is an approximate of the number of animals owned in the country from High River to the International boundary, while Mr. Kerfoot, of the Cochrane Ranch, gave the estimate of those animals in the vicinity of Calgary and Morley. In some cases the number may be under the mark, but we shall be pleased to rectify any such mistake if our attention is called to it:—

It is possible that some persons' names having considerable bands of cattle may have been omitted, and we are sure 40,000 head of cattle and 6,000 head of horses is not too high an estimate for the stock of the country. 40,000 cattle at $25 per head, and 6,000 head of horses at $50 per head, aggregates the nice little sum of $1,725,000, and with the increase and importations of next year, we shall have at least $2,500,000 worth of stock in Alberta.

BANKING INCONVENIENCE.

If there is one indignation more than another, the want of which is felt by the people of Calgary, is the establishment of a bank. There is no point west of Winnipeg in which the volume of business at the present time is so large and important as Calgary. It is the scene of gigantic building operations. It is a channel through which the commerce of the mountain country, as well as the country to the north and south, passes. It is the base of the mining industry. It is the stock exchange of the Dominion. Large monetary transactions are constantly taking place. Financial matters have here a field for operation unequalled in the Northwest. Yet, notwithstanding this state of facts, the banking enterprise of Canada is passive to the extent of its indifference to an important point. In its conservatism and imaginary caution it has limited itself to fields where bankruptcy and assignments are rampant, where it can make advances at eight per cent. to the tumbling and shattered business failures of the east and realize under a competition doing some twenty cents on the dollar. Let some of the banking institutions of Canada direct their attention to this field of operations, as it is to their satisfaction they will discover that no field on which they have "laid a lance" will be more remunerative than Calgary.

MEDICINE HAT.

A grand concert in aid of the funds of the day school was held on the 25th ult., and was attended by the largest audience that ever assembled in Medicine Hat. It would be impossible to give the committee of management, and the article who took part in the entertainment too much praise. The songs rendered by Mrs. Fennell and Miss Botwell showed high order of musical culture. Messrs. N. W. Watt and Edmonds sang, added much to the pleasure of the evening. The instrumentalists, Mrs. Brown, Mr. De Wolf, Mr. Staff and Mr. Loughhead, gave perfect satisfaction. Proceeds $89.

The citizens of the Hat gave a return ball to the Police Officers on the 25th ult. The late displayed in decorating the ball room proved the gentlemen to be no novices at such work, with elegance from the ladies, Calico lanterns, motion, etc., the room presented a magnificent appearance. The merry lads and lasses tripped to sweet strains until supper was announced. I might just say that friend Coney had charge of the spread, and his former reputation was fully maintained. The new house proved the happy party a "full swell."

Norway Not Satisfied.—Farmers Convention.—Secession.

Special to The Herald.

Hon. John Norquay is unsatisfied with the Ottawa proposals, and seriously talks of appealing to England. The Legislature meets on the 13th inst. A lively session is anticipated. The Farmers' Union Convention meets here to-morrow. Some strong talk of secession has been indulged in by a few, but this feeling is so opposite to the views of the majority of the delegates that it will not be heard in the meeting.

The trouble caused by some bands of Indians near Qu'Appelle last week, has subsided and no fears of further annoyance are entertained.

SECTION 15 NOTES.

The rush of houses to the new town-site still continues, and affords employment to a large number of men. Messrs. Brain Bros. being the largest contractors in this line.

Messrs. Denton & Martin got located on the rear of Messrs. Keohan & Seabury's lots last week.

Mr. McLean has sold his fine residence to Smith & Spearman, who have moved in on to their lot on Stephen avenue.

Mr. Loughhead has gone on the town-site with his law office and

Mr. Fitzgerald, has moved his office as well.

The Far West Hotel began moving from the east side of the Elbow on Monday.

Mr. Johnston arrived from the Denny estate last week, and will start building his fine hotel in a short time.

Mr. Reilly, who has a very large contract for buildings on the town-site, moved over on Tuesday.

Mr. Martin, from the east side of the Elbow, began moving over his extensive furniture business and his residence this week.

Mr. Wm. Martin arrived from Winnipeg by last train, and intends opening up a large store in the hardware line. His brother, Mr. J. M. Martin, who has spent the winter here, will enter into partnership with him.

Mr. Patterson is expected from Winnipeg on Wednesday, and will begin at once to erect buildings on his lots on Stephen and Atlantic avenues.

A number of lots have changed hands during the past week at a considerable increase from the original price.

Capt. Boynton is erecting a first-class theatre hall on two of his lots, and from the plans, it promise to be the finest building this side of Winnipeg.

The new freight sheds have been commenced, and when they are finished they will be the largest west of Winnipeg.

Mr. Neeland the pioner butcher, has moved over from the east side.

Mr. Sparrow, the popular wholesale and retail butcher, has nearly completed his building on the corner of Stephen and McTavish avenues, and will be ready for business next week.

Mr. Kerfoot, of the Cochrane ranch, is having four handsome villa residences erected on four lots for himself and some of his friends in the east.

We hear that Messrs. I. G. Baker & Co. have been negotiating for four lots on Stephen avenue, on which they are desirous of erecting an elegant and suitable store for the wants of our rapidly increasing city.

Mr. Donald McLeod, the old time freighter from Edmonton, arrived here last week, and was so struck with the appearance of the town-site that he is determined to buy a number of lots before he leaves for the north.

Dr. Henderson, who lately moved from the Denny estate to near the Hudson Bay Co., has now decided to move still farther west, having purchased another lot on Atlantic avenue. Mr. McCookie is preparing extensive and elaborate plans for his new medical hall.

The City Bakery is now located on Atlantic avenue, opposite the station.

The only drawback to the erection of buildings is the scarcity of building material, there being over 200 cars en route for Calgary, which the people are anxiously waiting for.

Mr. Bannerman has deemed it necessary to put a large extension to the front of his building, in order to make room for his rapidly increasing business.

Messrs. Keohan & Seabury, of the Riverside, have given orders for four of the best pool tables that can be purchased on this continent, and are fitting up their billiard hall with all the most modern improvements, regardless of expense.
